

School of Veterinary Medicine at Louisiana State University – Training Opportunities in Pathology (Anatomic or Clinical) or Laboratory Animal Medicine

Fellowship opportunities are available to both 1st and 2nd year Veterinary Medicine students for 10-11 weeks during the summer; and externship opportunities are available to 3rd and 4th year Veterinary Medicine students for half- or full-block externships all year round. Funding for training is available through the Kenneth F. Burns Trust Program. Applications for summer fellowships are due February 1, 2016. Externship applications will be accepted throughout the year but please allow at least two months for processing of the application.

For more information, please visit http://www.lsu.edu/vetmed/research/student_research_opportunities/burns_clerkship.php .